Introduction

I'd been posting random content for months - tutorials, product reviews, whatever I could think of - but nothing really clicked.

I was tired of seeing other people making affiliate income while I barely earned a few dollars a week.

One night, I was scrolling through Amazon, looking at stuff I actually wanted to buy - gadgets, home tools, little things that catch your eye.

And I noticed something: these product pages already looked like mini commercials.

The photos, the titles, the reviews — everything was there.

I thought, why not just use that and film with my iPhone?

So I opened my laptop, pulled up a product page, and filmed it using my phone — literally just panning across the screen and talking about the item like I owned it.

I mentioned the features, what I liked about it, and why people buy it.

Then I added my affiliate link in the description and posted it.

I didn't expect anything.

But the next morning, I checked — there were a few clicks.

Then a few more.

Within a few days, I got my first commission notification.

It wasn't much — maybe $12 — but it was proof it worked.

That tiny win changed everything.

I started making more videos. Soon the numbers started stacking — $50, $100, $150 a day, $200/day.

Step 2. Choose a Product That's Trending and in Demand

Now that you're registered, the next step is to find products that people are already searching for.

Go on Amazon's Best Sellers page to see what sells best right now.

<https://www.amazon.com/Best-Sellers/zgbs>

The screenshot shows the Amazon Best Sellers page. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the Amazon logo, delivery location (Raimundas), and search bar. Below that, there are links for 'All', 'Rufus', 'Today's Deals', 'Buy Again', 'Raimu...', 'Amazon.com', 'Gift Cards', 'Browsing History', 'Customer Service', 'Sell', and 'Prime Video'. The main content area is titled 'Amazon Best Sellers' and features two sections: 'Best Sellers in Home & Kitchen' and 'Best Sellers in Beauty & Personal Care'. Each section displays a grid of products with their rank, image, title, price, and star rating. The Home & Kitchen section includes items like a Queen Size 4 Piece Sheet Set, an Owala water bottle, Zevo insect traps, Zevo refills, a picture frame, and a shower liner. The Beauty & Personal Care section shows a hairbrush, a hairbrush set, a hairbrush, a hairbrush, and a hairbrush. The page number 'Page 1 of 4' is visible in the bottom right corner of each section.

Look for products that are popular, visually appealing, and priced in a range people actually buy on impulse - usually between $20 and $100.

Pick something with plenty of reviews and good photos.

These are signals that the product is trusted and converts well.

Try to stay in a category you understand or care about.

It could be tech gadgets, kitchen tools, home organization, beauty, or fitness.

The key is to choose items that solve a problem or make life easier.

Those always sell.

Once you've picked your product, copy the affiliate link from your Amazon Associates dashboard.

You'll use this later when posting your video.

Step 3. Film the Page with Your iPhone

Here's where the fun begins.

Open the product page on your laptop or desktop.

Position your phone so it captures the screen clearly - clean background, good lighting, and no distractions.

Start recording as if you're showing the product to a friend.

Talk naturally. You can say things like:

"This product caught my eye because of how simple and useful it is. Let's take a look at the pictures."

"It's got thousands of positive reviews and some really cool features."

"Here's what people love about it - and why I think it's worth checking out."

Highlight the product images, scroll through the reviews, and point out what stands out.

Be genuine, not salesy.

Your goal is to inform and build trust, not to push.

Each video doesn't have to be perfect.

What matters is that it's real and consistent.

As promised in the sales page, here's the exact video that I made:

Step 4. Distribute Your Video Everywhere

Once your video is ready, upload it to as many short-form platforms as possible.

Start with YouTube Shorts, TikTok, Instagram Reels, and Facebook Reels.

Each platform has its own audience, and even one viral video can make a big difference.

In the video description, include your affiliate link.

Use a link shortener like Bitly or your Amazon tracking ID to make it cleaner.

You can also pin the link in the comments or mention in the video that the link is in your bio.

The goal is visibility.

The more platforms your content lives on, the more chances people have to see it, click, and buy.

This step turns your videos into a mini sales army working 24/7 for you.

Step 5. Repeat the Process - Every Single Day

Here's where most people fail: they stop too soon.

You can't post one or two videos and expect miracles.

The key is consistency.

Set a target of at least five videos per day.

They don't have to be long - 15 to 30 seconds each is enough.

You'll get faster with time, and eventually, you'll be able to record, edit, and post multiple videos in under an hour.

Think of it like planting seeds.

Each video has the potential to bring in clicks and sales, not just today but months or even years from now.

These videos are evergreen.

They stay online, keep getting views, and continue generating income long after you've uploaded them.

So don't rest.

Keep posting.

Keep experimenting.

Some videos will flop, but others will take off - and one viral clip can make your entire week.

I started small. The first week, I made a few dollars. Then $50. Then $100 a day. It's not magic.

It's momentum.

All you need is your smartphone, a bit of effort every day, and the determination to keep going.

Your videos will do the selling. Your links will track the clicks. And your results will grow with time.

The more you make, the more you earn.

Start today. Don't overthink it. Just do it.
